Curriculum Vitae

Marilyn has worked in museums, galleries and heritage attractions for over 25 years. She is currently Director of the award winning Lightbox in Woking Surrey, winner of The Art Fund Prize in 2008. She project managed The Lightbox from feasibility study to opening of the building in 2007, having raised £7.2m for the construction and fit out. Marilyn has worked in national museums, at both the V&A and Science Museum and for The National Trust. She is currently a Trustee of The Weald and Downland Museum and Brooklands Museum and a Council member for AIM. She is a consultant for NLHF working with a wide range of heritage attractions to monitor their grant programmes. Marilyn has wide experience in the consulting field and her areas of specialism include strategic and business planning, fundraising, income generation and sustainability, and managing volunteers. She also has extensive experience of managing organisations within a Trust framework and works with Trustees to improve and enhance governance.

Marilyn also has international experience and works as a consultant for The British Council advising museums and galleries on business models and staff development. She has recently worked in Bahrain, Slovenia, Taiwan and Georgia.

In 2012 Marilyn joined Cultural Consulting Network and has worked on a wide range of projects particularly assisting with NLHF applications, fundraising strategy, feasibility studies and Business Plans.

‘Marilyn brings an insight based on many years’ experience of working in and developing museums. There is very little that she hasn’t had personal experience of and this kind of advice is worth an enormous amount as it is based on fact and hard experience rather than supposition’ Arundel Museum Society

Testimonials

‘Oxford House worked with CCN on our successful £2.9m round 2 application to HLF. The team were excellent and particularly the strength in depth and different skills. Their support and advice was always timely and considered. I was really pleased with the original thinking and analysis...’. John Ryan, CX, Oxford House

‘Working with CCN has been a pleasurable and energising experience. We wanted to work with our consultants and partners to draw up an innovative vision for our service, and to be both challenged and supported. CCN quickly gained a good grasp of our requirements and delivered beyond our expectations in a number of areas. We benefited from their flexibility and having members with different, but very relevant, skills and experience.’

Heather Forbes, Head of Archives Services, Gloucestershire Archives (HLF R2 activity, business planning, fundraising support)
